* Certain Trusts estimate they have distributed more than the amount of earned income and net realized gains; therefore, a portion of the distribution may be a return of capital. A return of capital may occur, for example, when some or all of the shareholder s investment in a Trust is returned to the shareholder. A return of capital does not necessarily reflect a Trust s investment performance and should not be confused with yield or income. When distributions exceed total return performance, the difference will reduce the Trust s net asset value per share.

Section 19(a) notices for each Trust, as applicable, are available on the BlackRock website <http://www.blackrock.com>.

Section 19(b) Disclosure

The Trusts, acting pursuant to a U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) exemptive order and with the approval of each Trust s Board of Trustees/Directors (the Board), each have adopted a plan, consistent with its investment objectives and policies to support a level distribution of income, capital gains and/or return of capital (the Plan). In accordance with the Plans, the Trusts currently distribute the following fixed amounts per share on a monthly basis as of December 31, 2014:

| Exchange Symbol | Amount Per Common Share |
|-----------------|-------------------------|
| BGR | $0.1350 |
| CII | $0.1000 |
| BDJ | $0.0467 |
| BOE | $0.0970 |
| BME | $0.1650 |
| BGY | $0.0490 |
| BCX | $0.0771 |
| BST | $0.1000 |
| BUI | $0.1210 |

Edgar Filing: BlackRock Enhanced Equity Dividend Trust - Form N-CSR

The fixed amounts distributed per share are subject to change at the discretion of each Trust's Board. Under its Plan, each Trust will distribute all available investment income to its shareholders, consistent with its primary investment objectives and as required by the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the Code). If sufficient investment income is not available on a monthly basis, the Trusts will distribute long-term capital gains and/or return of capital to shareholders in order to maintain a level distribution. Each monthly distribution to shareholders is expected to be at the fixed amount established by the Board, except for extraordinary distributions and potential distribution rate increases or decreases to enable the Trusts to comply with the distribution requirements imposed by the Code.

Shareholders should not draw any conclusions about each Trust's investment performance from the amount of these distributions or from the terms of the Plan. Each Trust's total return performance on net asset value is presented in its financial highlights table.

The Board may amend, suspend or terminate a Trust's Plan without prior notice if it deems such actions to be in the best interests of the Trust or its shareholders. The suspension or termination of the Plan could have the effect of creating a trading discount (if the Trust's stock is trading at or above net asset value) or widening an existing trading discount. The Trusts are subject to risks that could have an adverse impact on their ability to maintain level distributions. Examples of potential risks include, but are not limited to, economic downturns impacting the markets, decreased market volatility, companies suspending or decreasing corporate dividend distributions and changes in the Code. Please refer to each Trust's prospectus for a more complete description of its risks.

The Markets in Review

Dear Shareholder,

After an extended period of calm, market volatility increased over the course of 2014, driven largely by higher valuations in risk assets (such as equities and high yield bonds), rising geopolitical risks and expectations around global central bank policies. Several key trends drove strong performance in U.S. markets, particularly large-cap stocks, Treasuries and municipal bonds, while markets outside the U.S. were more challenged.

Investors began the year in search of relatively safer assets due to heightened risks in emerging markets, slowing growth in China and weakening U.S. economic data. As a result, equities globally declined in January while bond markets strengthened despite the expectation that interest rates would rise as the U.S. Federal Reserve had begun reducing its asset purchase programs. Strong demand for relatively safer assets pushed U.S. Treasury bond prices higher and thus kept rates low in the United States. This surprising development, as well as increasing evidence that the soft patch in U.S. economic data had been temporary and weather-related, brought equity investors racing back to the market in February.

In the months that followed, interest rates trended lower in a modest growth environment and more investors turned to equities in search of yield. Markets remained relatively calm despite rising tensions in Russia and Ukraine and further signs of decelerating growth in China. Strong corporate earnings, increased merger and acquisition activity and signs of a strengthening recovery in the U.S. and other developed economies kept equity prices moving higher. Not all segments benefited from these trends, however, as investors ultimately became wary of high valuations, resulting in a broad rotation into cheaper assets.

Volatility ticked up in the summer as geopolitical tensions escalated and investors feared that better U.S. economic indicators may compel the Fed to increase short-term interest rates sooner than previously anticipated. Global credit markets tightened as the U.S. dollar strengthened, ultimately putting a strain on investor flows, and financial markets broadly weakened in the third quarter.

Several themes dominated the markets in the fourth quarter, resulting in higher levels of volatility and the outperformance of U.S. markets versus other areas of the world. Economic growth strengthened considerably in the United States while the broader global economy showed signs of slowing. The European Central Bank and the Bank of Japan took aggressive measures to stimulate growth while the Fed moved toward tighter policy. This divergence in central bank policy caused further strengthening in the U.S. dollar versus other currencies. Oil prices, which had been falling gradually since the summer, plummeted in the fourth quarter due to a global supply-and-demand imbalance. Energy stocks sold off sharply and oil-exporting economies suffered, resulting in the poor performance of emerging market stocks.

At BlackRock, we believe investors need to think globally, extend their scope across a broad array of asset classes and be prepared to move freely as market conditions change over time. We encourage you to talk with your financial advisor and visit blackrock.com for further insight about investing in today's markets.

Sincerely,

The Benefits and Risks of Option Over-Writing

In general, the goal of each of the Trusts is to provide total return through a combination of current income and realized and unrealized gains (capital appreciation). The Trusts seek to pursue this goal primarily by investing in a portfolio of equity securities and utilizing an option over-writing strategy in an effort to enhance distribution yield and total return performance. However, these objectives cannot be achieved in all market conditions.

The Trusts primarily write single stock covered call options, and may also from time to time write single stock put options. When writing (selling) a covered call option, the Trust holds an underlying equity security and enters into an option transaction which allows the counterparty to purchase the equity security at an agreed-upon price (strike price) within an agreed-upon time period. The Trusts receive cash premiums from the counterparties upon writing (selling) the option, which along with net investment income and net realized gains, if any, are generally available to support current or future distributions paid by the Trusts. During the option term, the counterparty may elect to exercise the option if the market value of the equity security rises above the strike price, and the Trust is obligated to sell the equity security to the counterparty at the strike price, realizing a gain or loss. Premiums received increase gains or reduce losses realized on the sale of the equity security. If the option remains unexercised upon its expiration, the Trusts realize gains equal to the premiums received. Alternatively, an option may be closed out by an offsetting purchase or sale of an option prior to expiration. The Trust realizes a capital gain from a closing purchase or sale transaction if the premium paid is less than the premium received from writing the option. The Trust realizes a capital loss from a closing purchase or sale transaction if the premium received is less than the premium paid to purchase the option.

Writing covered call options entails certain risks, which include, but are not limited to, the following: an increase in the value of the underlying equity security above the strike price can result in the exercise of a written option (sale by the Trust to the counterparty) when the Trust might not otherwise have sold the security; exercise of the option by the counterparty may result in a sale below the current market value and a gain or loss being realized by the Trust; and writing covered call options limits the potential appreciation that could be realized on the underlying equity security to the extent of the strike price of the option. As such, an option over-writing strategy may outperform the general equity market in flat or falling markets but underperform in rising markets.

Each Trust employs a plan to support a level distribution of income, capital gains and/or return of capital. The goal of the plan is to provide shareholders with consistent and predictable cash flows by setting distribution rates based on expected long-term returns of the Trusts. Such distributions, under certain circumstances, may exceed a Trust's total return performance. When total distributions exceed total return performance for the period, the difference reduces the Trust's total assets and net asset value per share (NAV) and, therefore, could have the effect of increasing the Trust's expense ratio and reducing the amount of assets the Trust has available for long term investment. In order to make these distributions, a Trust may have to sell portfolio securities at less than opportune times.

The final tax characterization of distributions is determined after the fiscal year and is reported in the Trust's annual report to shareholders. Distributions can be characterized as ordinary income, capital gains and/or return of capital. The Trust's taxable net investment income or net realized capital gains (taxable income) may not be sufficient to support the level of distributions paid. To the extent that distributions exceed the Trust's current and accumulated earnings and profits, the excess may be treated as a non-taxable return of capital. Distributions that exceed a Trust's taxable income but do not exceed the Trust's current and accumulated earnings and profits, may be classified as ordinary income which are taxable to shareholders. Such distributions are reported as distributions in excess of net investment income.

A return of capital distribution does not necessarily reflect a Trust's investment performance and should not be confused with yield or income. A return of capital is a return of a portion of an investor's original investment. A return of capital is not taxable, but it reduces a shareholder's tax basis in his or her shares, thus reducing any loss or increasing any gain on a subsequent disposition by the shareholder of his or her shares. It is possible that a substantial portion of the distributions paid during a calendar year may ultimately be classified as return of capital or as distributions in excess of net investment income for income tax purposes when the final determination of the source and character of the distributions is made.

To illustrate these concepts, assume the following: (1) a common stock purchased at and currently trading at $37.15 per share; (2) a three-month call option is written by a Trust with a strike price of $40 (i.e., 7.7% higher than the current market price); and (3) the Trust receives $2.45, or 6.6% of the common stock's value, as a premium. If the stock price remains unchanged, the option expires and there would be a 6.6% return for the three-month period. If the stock were to decline in price by 6.6% (i.e., decline to $34.70 per share), the option strategy would break-even from an economic perspective resulting in neither a gain nor a loss. If the stock were to climb to a price of $40 or above, the option would be exercised and the stock would return 7.7% coupled with the option premium received of 6.6% for a total return of 14.3%. Under this scenario, the Trust loses the benefit of any appreciation of the stock above $40, and thus is limited to a 14.3% total return. The premium from writing the call option serves to offset some of the unrealized loss on the stock in the event that the price of the stock declines, but if the stock were to decline more than 6.6% under this scenario, the Trust's downside protection is eliminated and the stock could eventually become worthless.

Edgar Filing: BlackRock Enhanced Equity Dividend Trust - Form N-CSR

Each Trust intends to write covered call options to varying degrees depending upon market conditions. Please refer to each Trust's Schedule of Investments and the Notes to Financial Statements for details of written options.

Trust Summary as of December 31, 2014

BlackRock Energy and Resources Trust

Trust Overview

BlackRock Energy and Resources Trust s (BGR) (the Trust) investment objective is to provide total return through a combination of current income, current gains and long-term capital appreciation. The Trust seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing, under normal market conditions, at least 80% of its total assets in equity securities of energy and natural resources companies and equity derivatives with exposure to the energy and natural resources industry. The Trust may invest directly in such securities or synthetically through the use of derivatives. The Trust seeks to pursue this goal primarily by investing in a portfolio of equity securities and utilizing an option over-writing strategy in an effort to seek total return performance and enhance distributions.

The Board of the Trust approved a change of the fiscal year of the Trust from October 31st to December 31st.

No assurance can be given that the Trust s investment objective will be achieved.

Portfolio Management Commentary

How did the Trust perform?

For the two-month period ended December 31, 2014, the Trust returned (10.18)% based on market price and (9.06)% based on NAV. For the same period, the closed-end Lipper Natural Resources Funds category posted an average return of (6.82)% based on market price and (6.75)% based on NAV. All returns reflect reinvestment of dividends and/or distributions. The Trust s discount to NAV, which widened during the period, accounts for the difference between performance based on price and performance based on NAV. The following discussion relates to performance based on NAV.

What factors influenced performance?

The price of oil fell sharply during the two-month period due to the combination of falling demand, weaker economic growth expectations, continued supply strength and OPEC s announcement that it would not cut production. The Trust s holding in Encana Corp. was the largest detractor from returns as the company s growth rate appeared to be at risk from the lower oil price.

The Trust s investment in the energy distribution company Enbridge, Inc. was the largest contributor to absolute performance. The market reacted favorably to the company s announcement of a $17 billion restructuring program and a 33% increase in its quarterly dividend.

The Trust s holding in Cairn Energy PLC also benefited absolute returns, as the company announced a second discovery off the coast of Senegal during the period.

The Trust made use of options, principally written call options on individual stocks, in order to seek enhanced returns while continuing to participate in the performance of the underlying equities. The Trust s option writing strategy did not have a material impact on performance during the period.

The Trust held an above-average cash balance at the close of the period in order to manage risk in the weak market. Given the decline in the resources sector during the period, the elevated cash position had a positive impact on absolute performance.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

Edgar Filing: BlackRock Enhanced Equity Dividend Trust - Form N-CSR

The Trust initiated a position in the U.S.-focused oil producer Marathon Oil Corp. during the period. The Trust sold its positions in the coal producer Consol Energy, Inc. and the energy distribution company TransCanada Corp. based on valuation. It also exited its position in the offshore oil-service company Cameron International Corp. due to concerns that the company's business model will be particularly challenged by the environment of lower oil prices.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

As of period end, the Trust held its largest allocations in the integrated oil & gas and exploration & production sub-industries, with smaller allocations to oil services, distribution, and refining & marketing stocks. The Trust was underweight in the oil services industry, which stands to suffer from producers' reduced spending on capital expenditures. The Trust continued to emphasize companies with strong balance sheets, high-quality assets and low costs of production.

Trust Summary as of December 31, 2014

BlackRock Enhanced Capital and Income Fund, Inc.

Trust Overview

BlackRock Enhanced Capital and Income Fund, Inc. s (CII) (the Trust) investment objective is to provide investors with a combination of current income and capital appreciation. The Trust seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing in a portfolio of equity and debt securities of U.S. and foreign issuers. The Trust may invest directly in such securities or synthetically through the use of derivatives. The Trust seeks to pursue this goal primarily by investing in a portfolio of equity securities and utilizing an option over-writing strategy in an effort to seek total return performance and enhance distributions.

The Board of the Trust approved a change of the fiscal year of the Trust from October 31st to December 31st.

No assurance can be given that the Trust s investment objectives will be achieved.

Portfolio Management Commentary

How did the Trust perform?

For the two-month period ended December 31, 2014, the Trust returned (4.88)% based on market price and 2.69% based on NAV. For the same period, the benchmark S&P 500® Value Index returned 2.84%. All returns reflect reinvestment of dividends. The Trust s discount to NAV, which widened during the period, accounts for the difference between performance based on price and performance based on NAV. The following discussion relates to performance based on NAV.

What factors influenced performance?

Stock selection across multiple sectors, including consumer discretionary, information technology (IT) and energy, detracted from relative returns. Within the consumer discretionary sector, a position in Sinclair Broadcasting Group, Inc. proved costly as the stock could not keep pace with the broader market during the period. In the IT sector, the strategy s emphasis on higher-growth technology companies such as Google, Inc. and Apple, Inc. detracted from performance as value-oriented stocks, including Intel Corp. and Cisco Systems, Inc., produced strong relative performance. Lastly, the energy stocks Suncor Energy, Inc., Linn Energy LLC and HollyFrontier Corp. posted declines as falling crude oil prices resulted in significant selling pressure across the sector.

The Trust made use of options, principally written call options on individual stocks, in order to seek enhanced returns while continuing to participate in the performance of the underlying equities. The Trust s option writing strategy detracted from performance during the period. Relative to the S&P 500 Value Index, sector allocation decisions made the largest contribution to performance. Underweights in the energy and telecommunications services sectors, combined with overweights in consumer discretionary and IT, had the largest positive impact on relative performance. While overall stock selection detracted from results, gains in several long-term holdings, including Japan Airlines Co. Ltd., the mortgage title insurer FNF Group, Inc. and the technology company Leidos Holdings, Inc. helped overall returns. Like other transportation stocks, Japan Airlines was a direct beneficiary of the recent oil price decline.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

No new positions were initiated, but the Trust did increase exposure to select high conviction holdings, including Orbitz Worldwide, Inc. and FNF Group, Inc. These additions were funded out of portfolio cash as well as reductions in longer-term fund holdings that were approaching the investment manager s price targets. Positions in American International Group, Inc. and JP Morgan Chase & Co. within financials and Pfizer, Inc. and Johnson & Johnson in health care were sold during the period. These changes did not have meaningful impact on the Trust s overall positioning.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

Edgar Filing: BlackRock Enhanced Equity Dividend Trust - Form N-CSR

Relative to the S&P 500[®] Value Index, the Trust ended the period overweight in the consumer discretionary and information technology sectors, reflecting the investment manager's highest-conviction ideas. The Trust was underweight in the defensive areas of the market, such as the utilities and consumer staples sectors, due to their high valuations.

The views expressed reflect the opinions of BlackRock as of the date of this report and are subject to change based on changes in market, economic or other conditions. These views are not intended to be a forecast of future events and are no guarantee of future results.

Portfolio Management Commentary

How did the Trust perform?

For the two-month period ended December 31, 2014, the Trust returned (1.65)% based on market price and 1.69% based on NAV. For the same period, the Russell 1000® Value Index returned 2.67%. All returns reflect reinvestment of dividends. The Trust s discount to NAV, which widened during the period, accounts for the difference between performance based on price and performance based on NAV. The following discussion relates to performance based on NAV.

What factors influenced performance?

The largest contributor to relative performance for the period was the combination of stock selection in, and an underweight to, the energy sector. Notably, the Trust s large-cap posture and limited exposure to the exploration & production industry assisted relative returns amid the sharp sell-off in crude oil. Stock selection in the industrials sector also added to relative performance as the Trust s position in 3M Co., which is not held in the benchmark, outperformed on the strength of an upbeat 2015 outlook and an increase to its dividend. Stock selection in materials and an overweight in the consumer discretionary sector also contributed to relative performance.

The largest detractor from relative returns was stock selection in information technology, notably the Trust s position in the non-benchmark holding QUALCOMM, Inc. and the lack of a position in the benchmark holding Cisco Systems, Inc. Stock selection in the consumer staples and consumer discretionary sectors also hurt relative returns, as did a combination of stock selection and an underweight in the financials sector. Lastly, stock selection in health care modestly dampened relative performance for the period.

The Trust made use of options, principally written call options on individual stocks, in order to seek enhanced returns while continuing to participate in the performance of the underlying equities. The Trust s option writing strategy detracted from performance during the period.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

Edgar Filing: BlackRock Enhanced Equity Dividend Trust - Form N-CSR

Portfolio activity was driven by the merger of the BlackRock Dividend Income Trust into the BlackRock Enhanced Equity Dividend Trust, which took place in December 2014. Relatively few active changes were made to the Trust during the reporting period. Notably, the Trust initiated a position in Kroger Co., the second-largest supermarket chain in the United States. The investment manager believes Kroger stands out from other grocers due to its scale, strong local market positions, broad private brand portfolio and its consistent history of positive same-store sales. Additionally, the Trust initiated a position in Becton, Dickinson & Co. and eliminated its position in Mattel, Inc.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

As of the end of the period, the Trust's largest sector allocations on an absolute basis were in financials, industrials, health care, consumer discretionary and energy. The Trust remained positioned in high-quality stocks with an emphasis on those that provide relative protection and growth of income.

Portfolio Management Commentary

How did the Trust perform?

For the two-month period ended December 31, 2014, the Trust returned (4.82)% based on market price and (0.27)% based on NAV. All returns reflect reinvestment of dividends. For the same period, the benchmark MSCI All Country World Index posted a return of (0.29)%. The Trust s discount to NAV, which widened during the period, accounts for the difference between performance based on price and performance based on NAV. The following discussion relates to performance based on NAV.

For financial reporting purposes, the values of Palantir Technologies, Inc. and Uber Technologies, Inc. were updated to incorporate information relative to those investments that became available after the report date. Accordingly, the NAV per share and total return performance presented herein are different than the information previously published on December 31, 2014.

What factors influenced performance?

The most notable contributor to relative performance was stock selection in the health care sector, particularly holdings within the biotechnology segment, which outperformed on strong earnings. Stock selection in the telecommunication services (telecom) sector also contributed, particularly exposure to integrated telecom firms that benefited from healthy earnings and several upgrades of earnings forecasts by analysts.

The primary detractor from relative performance was stock selection in the financials sector, particularly within the diversified real estate activities sub-industry. Stock selection in the industrials sector also detracted, specifically exposure to the construction & engineering segment, which was negatively impacted by the significant decline in energy prices over the latter part of 2014.

Also, during the period, the Trust made use of options, principally written call options on individual stocks, in order to seek enhanced returns while continuing to participate in the performance of the underlying equities. The Trust s options writing strategy detracted from performance during the period.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

Edgar Filing: BlackRock Enhanced Equity Dividend Trust - Form N-CSR

During the period, the Trust reduced its exposure to the financials and energy sectors due to interest rate trends and continued downward pressure on the price of oil, respectively. The proceeds were used to increase exposure to more tactical opportunities in information technology and telecom. Regionally, the Trust reduced its exposure to the developed Americas and Japan, and added to its holdings in developed Europe and emerging Asia.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

Relative to the MSCI All Country World Index, the Trust ended the period overweight in the Europe and emerging Asia, and underweight in developed Americas. From a sector perspective, the Trust was most notably overweight in technology and healthcare, while the most significant underweights were in materials and industrials services.

The views expressed reflect the opinions of BlackRock as of the date of this report and are subject to change based on changes in market, economic or other conditions. These views are not intended to be a forecast of future events and are no guarantee of future results.

BlackRock Health Sciences Trust

Trust Overview

BlackRock Health Sciences Trust s (BME) (the Trust) investment objective is to provide total return through a combination of current income, current gains and long-term capital appreciation. The Trust seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing, under normal market conditions, at least 80% of its assets in equity securities of companies engaged in the health sciences and related industries and equity derivatives with exposure to the health sciences industry. The Trust seeks to pursue this goal primarily by investing in a portfolio of equity securities and utilizing an option over-writing strategy in an effort to seek total return performance and enhance distributions.

The Board of the Trust approved a change of the fiscal year of the Trust from October 31st to December 31st.

No assurance can be given that the Trust s investment objective will be achieved.

Portfolio Management Commentary

How did the Trust perform?

For the two-month period ended December 31, 2014, the Trust returned 10.07% based on market price and 2.38% based on NAV. For the same period, the Russell 3000® Healthcare Index returned 2.53%. All returns reflect reinvestment of dividends and/or distributions. The Trust s premium to NAV, which widened during the two-month period, which accounts for the difference between performance based on price and performance based on NAV. The following discussion relates to performance based on NAV.

What factors influenced performance?

The Trust benefited from stock selection in the biotechnology industry during the period. Among the top contributors to performance were Alkermes PLC, which reported solid financial results and benefited from improving expectations regarding its new-product pipeline, and Receptos, Inc., which reported positive clinical data for its multiple sclerosis and ulcerative colitis drugs. Positions in Agios Pharmaceuticals, Inc. and BioMarin Pharmaceutical, Inc. also performed well behind positive clinical developments for drugs focused on cancer and rare diseases, respectively. An underweight position in Gilead Sciences, Inc., which was hampered by increased competition for its Hepatitis-C drug, was an additional positive for relative performance.

Stock selection in the health care providers & services industry was a modest detractor from relative performance. An underweight position in Express Scripts Holding Company detracted as the stock rebounded after reporting solid third quarter results. The Trust s positions in the life sciences tools industry also detracted from performance, as did its stock selection in the pharmaceuticals industry. In the latter group, the Trust was affected by the weakness in several of its non-U.S. positions, such as Roche Holding AG, Chugai Pharmaceutical Co. Ltd., AstraZeneca PLC, Bayer AG and Novartis AG.

The Trust made use of options, principally written call options on individual stocks, in order to seek enhanced returns while continuing to participate in the performance of the underlying equities. The Trust s option writing strategy did not have a material impact on performance during the period.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

During the two-month period, the Trust s industry allocations generally stayed in line with their allocations at the prior fiscal year end on October 31, 2014. The Trust slightly increased its weighting in the biotechnology industry, while its weightings in the remaining health care sub-sectors (health care providers & services, health care equipment & supplies and pharmaceuticals) were unchanged. These allocations were the byproduct of the Trust s bottom-up, fundamental investment process.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

The Trust continues to focus on identifying innovative companies. Accordingly, its three largest allocations at period end were to the biotechnology, health care equipment & supplies and pharmaceuticals industries, where favorable trends in the innovation cycle have supported positive secular growth.

The views expressed reflect the opinions of BlackRock as of the date of this report and are subject to change based on changes in market, economic or other conditions. These views are not intended to be a forecast of future events and are no guarantee of future results.

BlackRock International Growth and Income Trust s (BGY) (the Trust) primary investment objective is to provide current income and current gains, with a secondary objective of long-term capital appreciation. Portfolio Management Commentary

How did the Trust perform?

For the two-month period ended December 31, 2014, the Trust returned (5.77)% based on market price and (2.10)% based on NAV. For the same period, the MSCI All Country World Index ex-US returned (2.91)%. All returns reflect reinvestment of dividends. The Trust s discount to NAV, which widened during the period, accounts for the difference between performance based on price and performance based on NAV. The following discussion relates to performance based on NAV.

What factors influenced performance?

Stock selection in the life & health insurance segment of the financials sector detracted from performance. In particular, shares of Delta Lloyd Group fell after the Dutch insurance company reported decreased premium income as well as weaker flows into its asset management business. The next largest detractor came from stock selection in the renewable electricity portion of the materials sector, as shares of the Spanish multinational Abengoa Yield plc fell. The Trust sold the position due to management concerns with respect to Abengoa Yield s parent company.

An underweight position in the oil, gas & consumable fuels segment of the energy sector was the primary contributor to relative performance, as these companies were impacted by falling oil prices. Weakness among these stocks may continue for the short term, but a recovery in energy prices over time is likely, and the Trust will consider adding to the segment once the current downward trend shows signs of reversing. Stock selection in the airlines segment of the industrials sector was the next largest contributor to performance. In particular, shares of Ryanair Holdings plc rallied following a positive earnings revision, an analyst upgrade and a decline in fuel prices that boosted the outlook for the segment.

Also, during the period, the Trust made use of options, principally written call options on individual stocks, in order to seek enhanced returns while continuing to participate in the performance of the underlying equities. The Trust s option writing strategy did not have a material impact on performance during the period.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

Edgar Filing: BlackRock Enhanced Equity Dividend Trust - Form N-CSR

During the period, the Trust trimmed positions in the consumer discretionary and energy sectors, and used the proceeds to add exposure in the health care and financials sectors. Regionally, the Trust reduced its exposure to Japan, and used the proceeds to add to holdings in developed Europe and emerging Asia.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

Relative to the MSCI All Country World Index, the Trust ended the period overweight in the United States and Europe, and underweight in Asia. From a sector perspective, the Trust was most notably overweight in consumer discretionary and staples, while the most significant underweights were in utilities and telecommunication services.

ANNUAL REPORT

17

Trust Summary as of December 31, 2014

BlackRock Resources & Commodities Strategy Trust

Trust Overview

BlackRock Resources & Commodities Strategy Trust s (BCX) (the Trust) primary investment objective is to seek high current income and current gains, with a secondary objective of capital appreciation. The Trust will seek to achieve its investment objectives, under normal market conditions, by investing at least 80% of its total assets in equity securities issued by commodity or natural resources companies, derivatives with exposure to commodity or natural resources companies or investments in securities and derivatives linked to the underlying price movement of commodities or natural resources. While permitted, the Trust does not currently expect to invest in securities and derivatives linked to the underlying price movement of commodities or natural resources. The Trust seeks to pursue this goal primarily by investing in a portfolio of equity securities and utilizing an option overwriting strategy in an effort to seek total return performance and enhance distributions.

On July 30, 2014, the Boards of each of the Trust, BlackRock Real Asset Equity Trust (BCF) and BlackRock EcoSolutions Investment Trust (BQR) approved the reorganizations of BCF and BQR with and in to the Trust, with the Trust continuing as the surviving fund after the reorganizations. At a special meeting of shareholders on November 10, 2014, the shareholders of the Trust, BCF and BQR approved the reorganizations of BCF and BQR with and in to the Trust. The reorganization was completed on December 8, 2014.

The Board of the Trust approved a change of the fiscal year of the Trust from October 31st to December 31st.

No assurance can be given that the Trust s investment objectives will be achieved.

Portfolio Management CommentaryHow did the Trust perform?

For the two-month period ended December 31, 2014, the Trust returned (8.53)% based on market price and (5.20)% based on NAV. For the same period, the closed-end Lipper Natural Resources Funds category posted an average return of (6.82)% based on market price and (6.75)% based on NAV. All returns reflect reinvestment of dividends and/or distributions. The Trust s discount to NAV, which widened during the period, accounts for the difference between performance based on price and performance based on NAV. The following discussion relates to performance based on NAV.

What factors influenced performance?

The agribusiness company Archer-Daniels-Midland Co. performed well during the period following the announcement of better-than-expected profits. The company s earnings were supported by strong margins in its ethanol, seed-crushing and corn sweetener businesses. The company also announced that it expected to repurchase ten million shares on top of its existing 18 million share buyback program. This news was well received by the market, and the stock was a strong contributor to absolute performance during the period.

The price of oil declined sharply during the period, weighing on the performance of mining companies with energy components to their businesses, such as BHP Billiton Ltd. and Freeport-McMoRan Inc. Falling oil prices also negatively impacted the Trust s position in Canadian Oil Sands Ltd. Canadian Oil Sands Ltd. has relatively high operational costs, which meant that the stock was disproportionately impacted by the weakness in oil. In addition, the market reacted negatively to the company s release of its 2015 outlook. While the company anticipated increased production growth, its growth estimate was below expectations and it announced a cut to its dividend.

The Trust made use of options, principally written call options on individual stocks, in order to seek enhanced returns while continuing to participate in the performance of the underlying equities. The Trust s option writing strategy did not have a material impact on performance during the period.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

Within the mining sector, the Trust reduced its exposure to producers of bulk commodities in favor of base metal companies, which reflected the widening gap between the fundamentals of the two commodity groups. The Trust added to MMC Norilsk Nickel within its base metals allocation. The company has benefited from the weakening Russian ruble given that the majority of its costs are based in the currency.

In the agriculture space, the Trust rotated its fertilizer exposure by initiating a position in the nitrogen fertilizer producer Yara International ASA.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

The energy sector was the Trust's largest allocation as of period end, followed by agriculture-related and metals & mining stocks, respectively. This positioning reflects the relative outlooks and valuations for each of these segments.

The views expressed reflect the opinions of BlackRock as of the date of this report and are subject to change based on changes in market, economic or other conditions. These views are not intended to be a forecast of future events and are no guarantee of future results.

Trust Summary as of December 31, 2014

BlackRock Utility and Infrastructure Trust

Trust Overview

BlackRock Utility and Infrastructure Trust s (BUI) (the Trust) investment objective is to provide total return through a combination of current income, current gains and long-term capital appreciation. The Trust seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing primarily in equity securities issued by companies that are engaged in the Utilities and Infrastructure business segments anywhere in the world and by utilizing an option writing (selling) strategy in an effort to seek total return performance and enhance distributions. The Trust considers the Utilities business segment to include products, technologies and services connected to the management, ownership, operation, construction, development or financing of facilities used to generate, transmit or distribute electricity, water, natural resources or telecommunications and the Infrastructure business segment to include companies that own or operate infrastructure assets or that are involved in the development, construction, distribution or financing of infrastructure assets. Under normal circumstances, the Trust invests a substantial amount of its total assets in foreign issuers, issuers that primarily trade in a market located outside the United States or issuers that do a substantial amount of business outside the United States. The Trust may invest directly in such securities or synthetically through the use of derivatives.

The Board of the Trust approved a change of the fiscal year of the Trust from October 31st to December 31st.

No assurance can be given that the Trust s investment objective will be achieved.

Portfolio Management CommentaryHow did the Trust perform?

For the two-month period ended December 31, 2014, the Trust returned 4.82% based on market price and 1.50% based on NAV. For the same period, the closed-end Lipper Utility Funds category posted an average return of 0.63% based on market price and (0.32)% based on NAV. All returns reflect reinvestment of dividends. The Trust s discount to NAV, which narrowed during the period, accounts for the difference between performance based on price and performance based on NAV. The following discussion relates to performance based on NAV.

What factors influenced performance?

Broadly, U.S. utilities continued to benefit from falling U.S. interest rates, investors search for yield and strong power demand. These factors led stocks higher over the two-month period. The Trust s exposure to master limited partnerships (MLPs) within the energy sector was the largest contributor to performance, led by Dominion Midstream Partners LP and Shell Midstream Partners LP. Exposure to the electric utilities and multi- utilities industries also added to absolute returns.

Conversely, the largest detractor from performance was the Trust s exposure to the independent power and renewable energy industry. The industry traded lower given the steep decline in crude oil prices and the potential impact this may have on the cost effectiveness of renewable energy sources. Notable detractors in the space include NRG Energy, Inc., Pattern Energy Group, Inc. and Enel Green Power SpA. Stock selection in both the construction & engineering and diversified telecommunication services industries had a marginally negative impact on returns.

Also, during the period, the Trust made use of options, principally written call options on individual stocks, in order to seek enhanced returns while continuing to participate in the performance of the underlying equities. The Trust s option writing strategy did not have a material impact on performance for the period.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

Edgar Filing: BlackRock Enhanced Equity Dividend Trust - Form N-CSR

During the two-month period, the Trust increased its electric utilities exposure by adding to existing positions in PPL Corp. and Pinnacle West Capital Corp. Additionally, multi-utilities exposure was increased by initiating a position in Consolidated Edison, Inc. A pair of Japanese transportation infrastructure companies were added to the portfolio, Japan Airport Terminal Co. Ltd. and East Japan Railway Co. Conversely, MLP exposure was selectively reduced during the period, by trimming positions in Enterprise Products Partners LP, Dominion Midstream Partners LP and Magellan Midstream Partners LP.

Describe Trust positioning at period end.

At period end, the utilities sector accounted for approximately one-half of the Trust's assets, with holdings concentrated in the U.S. electric and multi-utilities industries. The Trust's second largest exposure was to MLPs, based on attractive fundamentals and healthy dividend yields in the space. The managers remained mindful of the risks presented by the potential for rising U.S. interest rates and changes in the local environments in which the companies held by the Trust operate. As a result, the Trust was positioned with an eye towards diversification across multiple geographic and regulatory environments.

Derivative Financial Instruments

The Trusts may invest in various derivative financial instruments. Derivative financial instruments are used to obtain exposure to a security, index and/or market without owning or taking physical custody of securities or to manage market, equity, credit, interest rate, foreign currency exchange rate, commodity and/or other risks. Derivative financial instruments may give rise to a form of economic leverage. Derivative financial instruments also involve risks, including the imperfect correlation between the value of a derivative financial instrument and the underlying asset, possible default of the counterparty to the transaction or illiquidity of the derivative financial instrument. The Trusts' ability to use a derivative financial instrument successfully depends on the investment advisor's ability to predict pertinent market movements accurately, which cannot be assured. The use of derivative financial instruments may result in losses greater than if they had not been used, may limit the amount of appreciation a Trust can realize on an investment and/or may result in lower distributions paid to shareholders. The Trusts' investments in these instruments are discussed in detail in the Notes to Financial Statements.

Fair Value Measurements Various inputs are used in determining the fair value of investments and derivative financial instruments. These inputs to valuation techniques are categorized into a disclosure hierarchy consisting of three broad levels for financial statement purposes. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is greatest for instruments categorized in Level 3. The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the fair value hierarchy classification is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. The categorization of a value determined for investments and derivative financial instruments is based on the pricing transparency of the investment and derivative financial instrument and is not necessarily an indication of the risks associated with investing in those securities. The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are as follows:

Level 1 unadjusted quoted prices in active markets/exchanges for identical assets or liabilities that the Trust has the ability to access

Level 2 other observable inputs (including, but not limited to, quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in markets that are active, quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in markets that are not active, inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the assets or liabilities (such as interest rates, yield curves, volatilities, prepayment speeds, loss severities, credit risks and default rates) or other market-corroborated inputs)

Level 3 unobservable inputs based on the best information available in the circumstances, to the extent observable inputs are not available (including the Trust's own assumptions used in determining the fair value of investments and derivative financial instruments)

Changes in valuation techniques may result in transfers into or out of an assigned level within the disclosure hierarchy. In accordance with the Trust's policy, transfers between different levels of the fair value disclosure hierarchy are deemed to have occurred as of the beginning of the reporting period. For information about the Trust's policy regarding valuation of investments and derivative financial instruments, refer to Note 2 of the Notes to Financial Statements.

Fair Value Measurements Various inputs are used in determining the fair value of investments and derivative financial instruments. These inputs to valuation techniques are categorized into a disclosure hierarchy consisting of three broad levels for financial statement purposes. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is greatest for instruments categorized in Level 3. The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the fair value hierarchy classification is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. The categorization of a value determined for investments and derivative financial instruments is based on the pricing transparency of the investment and derivative financial instrument and is not necessarily an indication of the risks associated with investing in those securities. The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are as follows:

Level 1 unadjusted quoted prices in active markets/exchanges for identical assets or liabilities that the Trust has the ability to access

See Notes to Financial Statements.

BlackRock Enhanced Capital and Income Fund, Inc. (CII)

Level 2 other observable inputs (including, but not limited to, quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in markets that are active, quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in markets that are not active, inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the assets or liabilities (such as interest rates, yield curves, volatilities, prepayment speeds, loss severities, credit risks and default rates) or other market-corroborated inputs)

Level 3 unobservable inputs based on the best information available in the circumstances, to the extent observable inputs are not available (including the Trust's own assumptions used in determining the fair value of investments and derivative financial instruments)

Changes in valuation techniques may result in transfers into or out of an assigned level within the disclosure hierarchy. In accordance with the Trust's policy, transfers between different levels of the fair value disclosure hierarchy are deemed to have occurred as of the beginning of the reporting period. For information about the Trust's policy regarding valuation of investments and derivative financial instruments, refer to Note 2 of the Notes to Financial Statements.

As of December 31, 2014, the following tables summarize the Trust's investments and derivative financial instruments categorized in the disclosure hierarchy:

BlackRock Enhanced Equity Dividend Trust (BDJ)

Fair Value Measurements Various inputs are used in determining the fair value of investments and derivative financial instruments. These inputs to valuation techniques are categorized into a disclosure hierarchy consisting of three broad levels for financial statement purposes. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is greatest for instruments categorized in Level 3. The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the fair value hierarchy classification is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. The categorization of a value determined for investments and derivative financial instruments is based on the pricing transparency of the investment and derivative financial instrument and is not necessarily an indication of the risks associated with investing in those securities. The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are as follows:

Level 1 unadjusted quoted prices in active markets/exchanges for identical assets or liabilities that the Trust has the ability to access

Level 2 other observable inputs (including, but not limited to, quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in markets that are active, quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in markets that are not active, inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the assets or liabilities (such as interest rates, yield curves, volatilities, prepayment speeds, loss severities, credit risks and default rates) or other market-corroborated inputs)

Level 3 unobservable inputs based on the best information available in the circumstances, to the extent observable inputs are not available (including the Trust's own assumptions used in determining the fair value of investments and derivative financial instruments)

Changes in valuation techniques may result in transfers into or out of an assigned level within the disclosure hierarchy.
