Vodafone and Universal Music Group International sign strategic partnership

LONDON, November 14, 2005 A strategic alliance between the world's largest music company, Universal Music Group (UMG), and the world's largest mobile telecommunications network company, Vodafone, has been forged to deliver unparalleled content and entertainment innovation to Vodafone live! customers.

The agreement, announced today, will see the introduction of a broad range of products and services featuring such market-leading stars as Eminem, U2, Black Eyed Peas, Kaiser Chiefs, 50 Cent, Keane, Rammstein, and Scissor Sisters. The new partnership between Vodafone and UMG's Universal Music Group International (UMGI) division represents the world's most extensive offering of music for mobile, including:

Realtones and ringback tones

Full-track audio downloads

Full-track video downloads

Video streaming

Content from this deal is already available on Vodafone live! today, and it is expected that over 100,000 full-track audio downloads will be available within a matter of weeks, boosting the overall catalogue to over 600,000 tracks.

The products and services associated with the long-term agreement are designed to meet accelerating, global consumer demand for entertainment content on Vodafone's networks. The agreement also creates significant growth opportunities for both companies via innovative offerings in music and related areas in the future.

Lucian Grainge, Chairman/CEO of Universal Music Group International, commented, "This agreement sets new standards in scale, reach and imagination within our respective industries. Both companies are committed as never before to provide new entertainment services for the benefit of consumers, using 3G to harness the power and potential of new technology. I could not be more excited at the prospect."

Guy Laurence, Global Terminal and Consumer Marketing Director at Vodafone, said "Universal Music is the world's largest music company and this strategic union significantly enhances the scope of our mobile music offering. As adoption of music content continues to increase, we know that our consumers are going to enjoy the benefit of being able to tap into such an incredible catalogue."

As with all content agreements, Vodafone deploys industry-leading Digital Rights Management to ensure the full protection of the content and the rights of the artists signed to UMG companies around the world.

Press Release

VODAFONE ANNOUNCES NEW FOOTBALL SPONSORSHIP

Vodafone today announces an exciting and exclusive three year agreement to sponsor the UEFA Champions League commencing on 1st July 2006. The sponsorship deal will see Vodafone become both an Official Partner and the Official Mobile Network of the UEFA Champions League.

The agreement is central to Vodafone's global sponsorship strategy and reinforces the company's long term commitment to football. This new partnership will enable all Vodafone operating companies, partner networks and affiliates to provide their customers with access to the world's largest and most prestigious club competition.

The partnership will enable Vodafone to deliver content including video highlights packages and goal alerts from all UEFA Champions League matches to football fans on the Vodafone live! with 3G consumer service.

The new agreement with UEFA Champions League has two elements:

Sponsorship In addition to becoming an official partner and the official mobile network to the UEFA Champions League, Vodafone will be entitled to significant branding and hosting rights, as well as a substantial broadcast sponsorship package.

Content Building on Vodafone's existing UEFA Champions League content, highlights include in match video goal alerts, full time video highlights, preview packages, backed up with a comprehensive official text and data service on Vodafone live! with 3G.

Commenting on the new agreement Peter Bamford, Vodafone's Chief Marketing Officer said, "This new and exclusive partnership with the UEFA Champions League, allows us to build on and consolidate our successful association with football. The UEFA Champions League offers Vodafone two new benefits: firstly it extends Vodafone's football relevance to supporters around the world and secondly it offers fans access to unique and compelling content through the Vodafone network, both of which will increase our brand awareness and drive revenue."
