Emerging growth company

If an emerging growth company, indicate by check mark if the registrant has elected not to use the extended transition period for complying with any new or revised financial accounting standards provided pursuant to Section 13(a) of the Exchange Act.

Item 3.01. Notice of Delisting or Failure to Satisfy a Continued Listing Rule or Standards; Transfer of Listing.

On January 16, 2019, Sequential Brands Group, Inc. (the “Company”) received a letter from the Nasdaq Stock Market (“Nasdaq”) notifying the Company that it is not in compliance with Nasdaq’s requirement to maintain a minimum closing bid price of $1.00 per share, as set forth in Nasdaq Listing Rule 5550(a)(2), because for a period of 30 consecutive business days the bid price of the Company’s common stock has not closed at or above the minimum of $1.00 per share.

The letter states that pursuant to Nasdaq Listing Rule 5810(c)(3)(A), the Company will be provided 180 calendar days, or until July 15, 2019, to regain compliance with Nasdaq Listing Rule 5550(a)(2). In order to regain compliance, the closing bid price of the Company’s common stock must be at least $1.00 per share for a minimum of 10 consecutive business days during the 180-day period. During the 180-day cure period, and subject to compliance with the Nasdaq’s other continued listing standards, the Company expects that its common stock will continue to be listed on Nasdaq. In the event that the Company does not regain compliance within the 180-day period, the Company may be eligible for a second 180 calendar day compliance period. To qualify, the Company would be required to (i) meet the continued listing requirement for market value of publicly held shares and all other initial listing standards for The Nasdaq Capital Market, with the exception of the minimum bid price requirement, and (ii) notify Nasdaq of its intention to cure the deficiency by effecting a reverse stock split, if necessary. However, if it appears to Nasdaq staff that the Company will not be able to cure the deficiency during the second compliance period, if the Company is not eligible or if the Company obtains a second compliance period but is unable to regain compliance, then Nasdaq would provide notice to the Company that its common stock will be subject to delisting. Upon receipt of such notice, the Company may appeal the delisting determination to a Nasdaq Hearings Panel.

The Company intends to monitor its closing bid price for its common stock between now and July 15, 2019, and will consider its available options to resolve the Company’s noncompliance with the minimum bid price requirement in the event the closing bid price of its common stock remains below $1.00 per share. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to regain compliance with the minimum bid price requirement or maintain compliance with the other listing requirements.
