SKYEPHARMA AND SCIELE PHARMA ANNOUNCES SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION OF NEW SULAR® FORMULATION CLINICAL TRIAL PROGRAMME

STUDY SHOWED BIOEQUIVALENCE

LONDON, UK and ATLANTA, US, May 14, 2007 - SkyePharma PLC (LSE:SKP; NASDAQ:SKYE) and Sciele Pharma. Inc. (NASDAQ:SCRX) today announce the successful completion of the clinical trial programme for the new formulation of Sular®, a calcium channel blocking agent for the treatment of high blood pressure. The study results showed that the new Sular formulation is bioequivalent to Sciele's currently marketed Sular. The new Sular formulation utilizes SkyePharma's patented Geomatrix technology, which is designed to provide a lower dose of Sular for each of its current doses.

The data from this study will be combined with the results from the previous clinical trial in Sciele's new Sular formulation supplemental New Drug Application (sNDA) filing. Sciele expects to file an sNDA with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration by end of the second quarter of 2007.

NOTES TO EDITORS

About Sular

Nisoldipine, the active ingredient in Sular®, is an antihypertensive agent used to reduce blood pressure. It is estimated that 65 million Americans (nearly one quarter of the population) currently have elevated blood pressure, a recognised risk factor for stroke and heart attacks, and this number is increasing from demographic factors as the post-war 'Baby Boom' reaches middle age. 60% of those affected are diagnosed and receive treatment but only half of those treated attain treatment goals so there is a recognised opportunity for better treatments. Nisoldipine is a calcium channel blocker that prevents calcium from entering certain types of muscle cells. Because muscle cells need calcium to contract, calcium channel blockers prevent the cells from contracting and cause them to relax. Nisoldipine selectively relaxes the muscles of small arteries causing them to dilate but has little or no effect on muscles or the veins of the heart.

Sular is a registered trademark of Sciele Pharma, Inc.
