Filed below are talking points used by ON's managers on July 17, 2008 regarding ON's proposed acquisition of Catalyst.

Manager Talking Points

On July 17, ON Semiconductor announced the signing of a definitive merger agreement providing for the acquisition of Catalyst Semiconductor by ON Semiconductor in an all-stock transaction in which Catalyst shareholders will receive 0.706 shares of ON Semiconductor common stock for each share of Catalyst common stock they own.

Benefits of the deal

The acquisition of Catalyst Semiconductor will add to ON Semiconductor's high gross margin analog and mixed signal products offerings

Catalyst's EEPROM technology will strengthen ON Semiconductor's ASIC and power products capabilities expanding ON Semiconductor's ability to more comprehensively address its customers' needs

The EEPROM segment provides a new total available market (TAM) opportunity for ON Semiconductor of approximately $800 million to $1 billion

With the combination of ON Semiconductor's global footprint, effective channels of distribution, and top-tier customer relationships, ON Semiconductor expects to be able to support a broader and deeper penetration of Catalyst's overall product portfolio

Catalyst has a long history of developing proprietary Intellectual Property (IP) and proven designs

Catalyst Semiconductor's strong portfolio offering should also benefit from ON Semiconductor's integrated manufacturing capabilities. The acquisition also further enhances the utilization of the Gresham facility

To compete successfully in today's global marketplace, size and scale are important. ON Semiconductor provides Catalyst with:

- o Enhanced scale
- o Deeper customer relationships and sales channels
- o Integrated manufacturing capabilities
- o An expanded addressable market

Next Steps

We expect the deal to close sometime during the fourth quarter of 2008

ON Semiconductor intends to have Catalyst Semiconductor operate as a stand alone basis for the foreseeable future

Look for ongoing acquisition and integration updates on The Connection or The Circuit
