In each quarter beginning with the quarter ended June 30, 2012 and through the quarter ended September 30, 2012, the company has declared and paid, or will pay, dividends on its common stock in excess of the reference dividend set forth in the Articles Supplementary, dated February 5, 2008, with respect to the company's 5.500% Series D Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock (the Series D Preferred Stock). Pursuant to the Articles Supplementary, payments by the company of dividends in excess of the reference dividend trigger adjustments to the conversion rate on the Series D Preferred Stock. Adjustments to the conversion rate are not required until the adjustment would require an increase or decrease of at least 1% of the conversion rate; provided that any adjustment that is not made is carried forward and taken into account in any future adjustment. On an aggregate basis, these dividends have triggered an adjustment to the conversion rate on the Series D Preferred Stock to 0.6360 shares of the company's common stock per $25.00 liquidation preference of the Series D Preferred Stock, effective September 12, 2012 and subject to adjustment as provided in the Articles Supplementary.

As of September 12, 2012, the conversion rate on the company's convertible preferred stock and exchange rate on our operating partnership's exchangeable senior debentures are as follows:

5.500% Series D Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock	0.6360 shares per $25.00 liquidation preference
5.50% Exchangeable Senior Debentures due 2029	24.4550 shares per $1,000 principal amount
