INTERNAL STORY

Hearing on ITC Transaction Under Way in Louisiana

Teams are focused in Baton Rouge this week on explaining why Entergy's proposal to separate and merge its transmission business into ITC Holdings Corp. is in the public interest and why it should be approved by the Louisiana Public Service Commission.

The application filed jointly by Entergy Louisiana, Entergy Gulf States Louisiana and ITC represents one part of a regulatory journey that involves half-a-dozen state and local jurisdictions and nearly as many federal agency reviews.

Slated to testify at the week-long hearings are senior executives from Entergy Louisiana and Entergy Gulf States Louisiana and ITC as well as consultants and intervenors. The procedure followed at the LPSC calls for the taking of evidence through the hearing process, the issuance of a recommendation by the presiding administrative law judge and ultimately a decision by the five-member commission.

Meanwhile, in other developments around the region, Arkansas parties (Entergy Arkansas, ITC, Arkansas Public Service Commission staff, Arkansas attorney general, Arkansas Electric Energy Consumers and the Empire District Electric Company) filed a joint motion with the APSC July 12 proposing a new hearing schedule for the week of Sept. 3. The commission, which has yet to rule on the motion, cancelled the July 9 hearing and ordered the parties to propose a new schedule in order to allow for the development of a more complete record on the rate mitigation plan proposed by Entergy Arkansas and ITC to respond to stakeholder concerns about the timing of benefits and rate effects.

In Texas, the matter is scheduled to be considered in open meetings before the Public Utility Commission of Texas July 19 and Aug. 9, with a statutory deadline for decision of Aug. 18.

Elsewhere, hearings were conducted in Missouri in June with others planned in Mississippi and New Orleans Aug. 6 and Aug. 27, respectively. The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission approved the transaction June 20.

Entergy and ITC are working to close the transaction by year's end.
