Item 1.02. Termination of a Material Definitive Agreement.

On August 1, 2012, we announced that Stratasys, Inc. and Hewlett-Packard Company ( HP ) entered into an agreement on July 31, 2012, to terminate the Master Original Equipment Manufacturer Agreement (the OEM Agreement ) between the two companies effective December 31, 2012. Under the terms of the OEM Agreement, signed in January 2010, we have developed and manufactured for HP an exclusive line of 3D printers based on our patented Fused Deposition Modeling (FDM®) technology. Later that year, HP began a phased rollout of the 3D printers, which are now being sold exclusively by HP in eight European countries. We terminated the OEM Agreement because we no longer believed we could achieve the financial benefits originally anticipated by entering into the OEM Agreement. Under the termination agreement, HP's exclusivity ends on October 31, 2012, and we will begin selling equivalent Stratasys products in the current HP territory after that date. The termination agreement also provides for continuity of consumables and service for end user customers that have purchased systems sold by HP under the OEM Agreement.

Any statements that are not statements of historical fact (including statements containing believes, anticipates, plans, expects, may, would, intends, estimates and similar expressions) should also be considered to be forward-looking statements. There are a number of important factors that could cause actual results or events to differ materially from those indicated by such forward-looking statements, including: the ability of each of Stratasys and Objet to satisfy the closing conditions and consummate the transaction, including obtaining the approval of the transaction by Stratasys stockholders; the risk that the businesses may not be integrated successfully; the risk that the transaction may involve unexpected costs or unexpected liabilities; the risk that synergies from the transaction may not be fully realized or may take longer to realize than expected; the risk that management's focus on and disruptions arising from the transaction make it more difficult to maintain relationships with customers, employees, or suppliers; and the other risks set forth in Stratasys most recent Annual Report on Form 10-K, as well as the other factors described in the filings that Stratasys makes with the SEC from time to time. If one or more of these factors materialize, or if any underlying assumptions prove incorrect, the transactions described herein may not be successfully consummated, and if consummated the actual results, performance or achievements of the combined company may vary materially from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements.

In addition, the statements in this document reflect the expectations and beliefs of Stratasys and/or Objet as of the date of this document. Stratasys and Objet anticipate that subsequent events and developments will cause their expectations and beliefs to change. However, while Stratasys and Objet may elect to update these forward-looking statements publicly in the future, they specifically disclaim any obligation to do so. The forward-looking statements of Stratasys and/or Objet do not reflect the potential impact of any future dispositions or strategic transactions, including the Merger that may be undertaken.
