ARMOR HOLDINGS, INC. ANNOUNCES AGREEMENT TO ACQUIRE STEWART & STEVENSON SERVICES, INC.

Transformational Acquisition Positions Armor Holdings as Prime Vehicle Contractor

Combined Business Expected to Have Attractive Growth Opportunities

JACKSONVILLE, FL and HOUSTON, TX February 27, 2006 Armor Holdings, Inc. (NYSE: AH), a leading manufacturer and distributor of security products and vehicle armor systems serving military, law enforcement, homeland security and commercial markets, announced today that it has signed a definitive agreement to acquire Stewart & Stevenson Services, Inc. (NYSE: SVC), a leading manufacturer of military tactical wheeled vehicles including the Family of Medium Tactical Vehicles (FMTV), the U.S. Army's primary transport platform.

Armor Holdings has agreed to acquire all of the outstanding stock of SVC for $35 per share in a cash merger transaction. The total value of the transaction is expected to be approximately $755 million after deducting SVC's net cash balance of $312 million as of January 31, 2006. The transaction is subject to SVC shareholder approval, the expiration or termination of the Hart-Scott-Rodino waiting period and other customary conditions. The transaction is expected to close mid-year. Armor Holdings will finance the transaction through available cash and with proceeds from new senior credit facilities.

Robert R. Schiller, President of Armor Holdings, said, "This is truly a transformational event for our company. Stewart & Stevenson is one of the finest manufacturers of military vehicles in the world. Our position as the leading supplier of vehicular armor and safety systems for the up-armored HMMWV, numerous heavy tactical vehicles, and work for Stewart & Stevenson on the FMTV, has enabled us to grow our sales and earnings at excellent rates for the past several years. We believe this opportunity to become a prime contractor within the military's tactical wheeled vehicle fleet is extremely compelling. We expect to benefit from Stewart & Stevenson's world-class fabrication and assembly operations, strong research and development effort, and highly capable management team.

Max L. Lukens, President and Chief Executive Officer of Stewart & Stevenson commented, "Our Board of Directors unanimously concluded that this transaction with Armor Holdings provides significant value for our shareholders and is in the best interests of our customers and employees. Our Tactical Vehicle Systems business led by Denny Dellinger and his team has developed a standard of quality, reliability and vehicle readiness for the FMTV that we believe is unmatched in the industry. Armor Holdings, through its Aerospace & Defense Group, has a diversified portfolio of great products that it offers to the U.S. Department of Defense and other customers in various parts of the world. I believe the successful track record and complementary strengths of these two organizations offer a platform for future growth and expanded opportunities for the combined businesses.

Mr. Schiller added, "We believe that the integration of Stewart & Stevenson will further diversify our overall defense business, create improved multi-year visibility for revenues, make appropriate use of our strong financial position, and provide a wide variety of incremental growth opportunities. We expect the FMTV program to deliver strong growth going into the second-half of this year and to continue in 2007 and beyond. Based on this expectation and potential synergies from the combination, we expect the acquisition to be accretive to earnings in 2007. We are very excited to begin the process of integration and creation of a company that is stronger than either of its predecessors was individually.

Robert Mecredy, President of Armor Holdings Aerospace & Defense Group, said, "We are very proud of the work we have done and the close relationships we have built with the team at Stewart & Stevenson over the past several years. We are extremely excited about now working full time with this incredibly talented and capable organization, specifically to identify the many benefits that might arise from our combination. Stewart & Stevenson's leadership as a premier vehicle manufacturer brings to Armor Holdings a multi-year FMTV contract through 2008, and potentially well into the future. We believe that it positions us extremely well for a wide range of high-priority procurement contracts in the coming years. In our opinion, recent Defense budget actions to significantly increase funding for the FMTV program underscore the significance of this critical equipment to U.S. military operations abroad and for the mission of our Guard and Reserve components. We are proud of what Armor Holdings has done for our Service men and women and excited to increase our contribution through the addition of Stewart & Stevenson to the Armor Holdings Aerospace & Defense Group.
