On March 22, 2018, Unilever N.V. issued the following quote to certain media outlets:

The Unilever Board has made a proposal to simplify Unilever's corporate structure into a single legal entity incorporated in the Netherlands, reflecting the fact that the shares in the Dutch company account for 55% of the group. At the same time, the Board has committed to maintain listings in Amsterdam, London and New York to allow international investors to continue to hold Unilever shares. Unilever has engaged widely with shareholders since announcing the Board's proposal and will continue to do so ahead of a shareholder vote planned for Q3 this year.
