Issuance of Euro Yen Zero Coupon Convertible Bonds due 2008

~Toward the Implementation of Growth Strategy of Transformation 60~

At the Executive Board held today, Sony Corporation (Sony) has decided the issuance of the Euro Yen Zero Coupon Convertible Bonds due 2008 (bonds with stock acquisition rights, tenkanshasaigata shinkabu yoyakuen-tsuki shasai or the Bonds) in the maximum principal amount of ¥250 billion (including those in the maximum amount of ¥30 billion to be issued upon exercise of the Greenshoe Option) with a contingent conversion feature.

Purpose of Financing

On October 28, 2003, Sony announced Transformation 60 (TR60), a series of fundamental reforms across the Sony Group, consisting of two pillars; growth strategy through convergence of the Group's resources and technology; and a second phase of structural reforms aimed at enhancing the Group's operational profit structure. This financing is intended to provide strong support from a financial strategy perspective for the TR60, where growth strategy and structural reforms are simultaneously pursued, and should enable implementation of focused investments in growth areas.

Use of Proceeds and Objective

- The proceeds will be applied primarily to make capital investment for growth in semiconductors and key devices, in order to accelerate convergence strategies in Sony's Home Electronics (including Game) and Mobile Electronics. Specifically, the proceeds will be allocated to finance investments for the development and manufacturing of semiconductors such as CELL, a highly-advanced processor that will be embedded in a broad range of next-generation digital consumer electronics products, and key devices including display devices.
- Zero coupon financing allows to support forthcoming investments and structural reform. At the same time, by targeting a conversion price with a high premium, that exceeds market value (with a premium of more than 45 percent) and by further adding a contingent conversion feature ^(T), the Bonds are structured to minimize potential dilution of earnings until the TR60 has generated sufficient returns.

Edgar Filing: SONY CORP - Form 6-K

- Improved profitability through the TR60 could lead to the conversion of the Bonds, which will further strengthen our equity position and provide increased opportunity for further investments for growth.

T Contingent conversion feature: This condition limits investors to exercise the conversion rights unless the share price is above a certain level of the conversion price for a certain period of time or longer. In this case, 1) in the initial 4 year period, if the share price for any 20 trading days in a period of 30 consecutive trading days in the previous quarter is more than 110 percent of the conversion price, 2) in the final year, at any time after the share price is more than 110 percent of the conversion price for at least one trading day, bondholders may exercise the stock acquisition rights. Dilution will not be recognized under US GAAP until the conditions are met for exercising the stock acquisition rights.

This press release shall not be construed as an offering of securities in any region including Japan, the United States or Canada. The securities may not be offered or sold in the United States absent registration or an applicable exemption under the Securities Act of 1933. (3) Rationale for determining the issue price of the Stock Acquisition Rights as zero and the amount to be paid upon exercise thereof

The issue price of the Stock Acquisition Rights has been determined as zero, taking into consideration that the Bonds and the Stock Acquisition Rights have a close interrelation on the grounds that the Stock Acquisition Rights are incorporated in the bonds with stock acquisition rights of a convertible bonds type (tenkanshasaigata) and shall not be transferable separately from the Bonds, that all the Bonds shall cease to exist upon exercise of the related Stock Acquisition Rights due to substitute payment, and also taking into consideration the value of the Stock Acquisition Rights, and the economic value obtainable from the interest rate, the issue price and other terms of issue of the Bonds. The amount to be paid upon exercise of each Stock Acquisition Right has been determined as the amount equal to the issue price of each Bond, since the Bonds are bonds with stock acquisition rights of a convertible bonds type (tenkanshasaigata). The initial Conversion Price has been the amount obtained by multiplying the closing price of the shares of common stock of the Company on the Tokyo Stock Exchange on December 1, 2003 by 47.5%.
