III. Corporate Governance Problems and Reasons

Based on the check against the list of matters for self-evaluation (see Appendix), areas in the Company's corporate governance that need to be improved are as follows:

1. Certain corporate governance regulations, such as Detailed Rules for the Working of General Manager and the Policy on the Working of Independent Directors, have not been established yet.

Reasons: The Company has formulated the Rules of Procedure for the Working Meetings of General Manager, Rules of Procedure for Communist Party and Administration Joint Meetings and has set forth provisions related to the duties of the general manager and independent directors in the Articles of Association. That is why the Company has not formulated Detailed Rules for the Working of General Manager and the Policy on the Working of Independent Directors.

2. The share reform has not been completed yet.

Reasons: The Company launched the share reform preparation according to the requirements of the China Securities Regulatory Commission in October 2006. However, due to the fact that the share reform plan did not receive the affirmative votes of more than two thirds of the holders of circulating A shares, the company failed to complete the share reform in that year.

V. Unique Corporate Governance Practice

Sinopec Shanghai, an internationally listed company, is a leading Chinese company entering the international capital market. Since its listing, Sinopec Shanghai has always stringently abided by regulatory requirements for the purpose of protecting shareholders' interests pursuant to requirements of the modern enterprise system and relevant listing rules, and strives to make its operations institutionalized, legalized and transparent.

In practice, the Company has been actively exploring ways to establish a system and power balancing structure in line with the demands of the market economy, modern enterprise system construction and listing rules. The Company has established and improved the corporate governance structure with the shareholders' meeting as the highest authority, the Board of Directors as the decision maker, the general manager and his team as the ones for execution, and the Supervisory board as the supervisor. The Company has built up and improved a full set of decision making and daily operation systems in compliance with international and domestic laws and regulations. The Company has improved and enhanced the establishment of the Communist Party Committee, trade union and employees' representative meetings, and appropriately integrated them into the corporate governance structure. The Company has developed a decision making and supervision system blending its own characteristics with the peculiarities of the joint stock enterprise, under which the three new meetings (i.e. shareholders meeting, board of directors and supervisory board) and the three old meetings (i.e. the Communist Party Committee, trade union and employees' congress) are properly positioned and responsible for their respective duties and work in a coordinated way within an effective and balanced framework, thereby creating a situation of two-way cooperation through staff sharing and mutual support, and making the enterprise operations democratized, legalized, regularized and transparent.

Since its listing in Shanghai, Hong Kong and New York, the Company has voluntarily remained within the bounds of the discipline of, and accepted the oversight of, regulatory authorities, society and shareholders in the spirit of being responsible to investors. The Company voluntarily accepts the supervision in strict accordance with relevant regulations of those three jurisdictions, and strictly implements relevant finance and audit regulations and information disclosure policies. corporate governance structure with the shareholders' meeting as the highest authority, the Board of Directors as the decision maker, the general manager and his team as the ones for execution, and the Supervisory Board as the supervisor. The Company has built up and improved a full set of decision making and daily operation systems in compliance with both international and domestic laws and regulations. The Company has improved and enhanced the establishment of the Communist Party Committee, trade union and employees' representative meetings, and appropriately integrated them into the corporate governance structure. The Company has developed a decision making and supervision system blending its own characteristics with the peculiarities of the joint stock enterprise, under which the three new meetings (i.e. shareholders meeting, board of directors and supervisory board) and the three old meetings (i.e. the Communist Party Committee, trade union and employees' representative meetings) are properly positioned and responsible for their respective duties and work in a coordinated way within an effective and balanced framework, thereby creating a situation of two-way cooperation through staff sharing and mutual support, and making the enterprise operations democratized, legalized, regularized and transparent. In particular, during the process of building the modern enterprise system, the Company has followed and improved the democratic management system using workers' representative meetings as the basic form, and implemented and further developed an open approach to factory management. In this way, the Company has created a unique operational mechanism of open and democratic management on factory affairs, which helps giving full play to and foster the enthusiasm, initiative and creativity of workers and staff, and pushes forward the Company's reforms and development. The Company received the award of Nation-wide Leading Organization in Open Management on Factory Affairs in 2003.

Strong corporate governance is essential to the development of Sinopec Shanghai. The Company will continue to explore and search for innovation measures in corporate governance to facilitate the better, faster and healthier development of the Company.
