GOL Maintains Leadership in Internet Ticket Sales for 2005

São Paulo, March 13, 2006 GOL Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes (Bovespa: GOLL4 and NYSE: GOL), Brazil's low cost, low fare airline, finished its second consecutive year as one of the largest e-commerce companies in Brazil. Internet ticket sales in 2005, at approximately R$ 2.6 billion, accounted for 81% of the Company's R$ 3.2 billion total sales. Gross operating revenues (passengers flown) in 2005 were approximately R$ 2.8 billion, representing a net operating revenue of approximately R$ 2.7 billion.

GOL revolutionized the way Brazilians purchase airline tickets by eliminating the traditional paper ticket, which reduced the Company's costs and simplified passengers' access to GOL's services. In addition to purchasing tickets, passengers can also check-in and change flight reservations online. The e-commerce platform is essential for GOL to continue to operate under the low cost, low fare model. The Company plans on continuing to stimulate the use of Internet as an advantageous tool on purchasing airline tickets, says Tarcísio Gargioni, vice-president of Marketing and Services at GOL Linhas Aéreas.

A large part of the online sales success is due to the facility of this particular sales channel. The Internet is the most economical, practical and fastest way to purchase tickets for any of GOL's destinations in Brazil and South America. Travel agencies have also played a large part in this process and gained access to new markets and increased productivity. In the fourth quarter of 2005, GOL's website registered 1.5 million unique visitors, an almost 50% increase over 2004.

In addition to purchasing tickets on the Internet, GOL's customers can also buy tickets and check-in via Internet or WAP enabled cellular phone. This service is currently offered through partnerships with telecom operators Vivo, Amazônia Celular and Telemig Celular.
